Bottom line

Across 73 Indian entities we confirm 710 impersonating domains year to date. 389 were still hosting when probed on 6 August 2026 — a survival rate of 55%, materially higher than any Western region we have assessed.

India does not look like the Western threat picture, and the difference is the finding. In the UK, Ireland and Taiwan the dominant category is bank and telecom credential phishing. In India the dominant category is identity documents. 298 of 710 findings (42%) target Aadhaar, PAN, voter ID or the operator ecosystem around them — more than banking, payments and retail combined. That follows directly from India Stack: when a single number unlocks banking, telecom, benefits and tax, that number becomes the asset worth stealing, and the bank login becomes a downstream consequence rather than the objective.

The picture divides into four operations, each with its own tradecraft:

- Identity-document services (298) — print portals, "UIDAI approved operator" services, and PAN lookup tools that solicit an Aadhaar number and date of birth directly.
- Vehicle services (167) — mParivahan and e-Challan clones, several falsely asserting Government of India status.
- Payment rails (108) — UPI, Paytm and PhonePe brand abuse, including unlicensed "payment API" offerings.
- Banking (15) — conventional net-banking credential pages, and the smallest of the four categories.

1 — Identity documents: the dominant Indian threat

298 findings target India’s identity infrastructure. This is not a single campaign but an ecosystem, and it is worth separating the layers carefully because one of them is lawful.

An important distinction we have preserved throughout. India has a large and legitimate network of Common Service Centres and Village Level Entrepreneurs — authorised operators who assist citizens with document services for a fee. Offering document help is not evidence of wrongdoing, and we have not treated it as such. What is retained here asserts an authority it does not hold, reproduces a government service, or solicits identity numbers directly.

Aadhaar print / PVC card portal

This is the single most consequential category in the report. Nine domains render "Know your PAN Card No using Aadhar No & DOB" and invite a citizen to enter their Aadhaar number and date of birth to retrieve their PAN. Those three fields together are the core identity set for opening financial accounts in India. The page does not need to steal a password — the data it asks for openly is worth more than the credential. Domains include atpanfind.com, panfinds.com, padekhoo.com and panfind.top, spread across seven months.

myAadhaar Support – UIDAI Approved Supervisor & Operator ID Serv

2026-08-03 · 3d online · 46.105.61.215

Aadhaar operator / supervisor ID service

Twelve domains render "myAadhaar Support – UIDAI Approved Supervisor & Operator ID Services". UIDAI is the statutory authority that administers Aadhaar; these sites assert its approval to sell operator credentials. Note the naming convention — nooruc1.shop, rohanuc1.sbs, subhanuc1.sbs, sakibuc1.sbs, uc1serves.xyz — a personal name followed by uc1, which reads as individual resellers operating from a shared template rather than one centrally run campaign.

The largest single cluster: 35 domains, one login page

Thirty-five domains render an identical "APNA AADHAAR TECH Login Page". What makes this cluster notable is the complete disconnection between domain and content: prodept.shop, mafiaonline.shop, hukkalover.shop, umpking.shop, tickodot.shop. None carries an Aadhaar token; none suggests identity services. They were found solely because the rendered page does.

A further tier markets multi-document printing — "Titan Print – #1 Document Printing Platform | Aadhaar, PAN, Voter ID" across nine domains, and "India No #1 Digital Print Portal for Aadhaar, PAN, PVC & more" across eight. Each aggregates several identity documents into one intake form.

2 — mParivahan and e-Challan: impersonating the state

167 findings target India’s vehicle-services stack. mParivahan is the Ministry of Road Transport application for licences, registration and traffic fines. The e-Challan system issues those fines, which makes it an unusually effective pretext: an unexpected demand for payment from a government source is entirely normal.

Eight sequential domains registered on a single day. mpari-vahan1.xyz through mpari-vahan8.xyz were all registered on 2 August 2026 and most resolve to the same address, 37.27.71.198. Alongside them sit e-challan-gov.xyz and challan-go v.xyz on the same host — the -gov suffix is doing deliberate work, since .gov.in is restricted and this is the closest available imitation.

Ten domains render the page title "mParivahan – Official Vehicle & License App | Government of India". That is a direct false claim of state authority, not merely a lookalike. The naming works through systematic permutation of the government service name: m-parivahan.net, mparivahan.com, meparivahan.org, go-parivahan.org, seva-parivahan.org, esewa-parivahan.org, sewamparivahan.com, msewa-goparivahan.org and .com. "Seva" and "sewa" mean service — the vocabulary of government delivery.

3 — Payment rails and banking

108 findings target UPI and the wallet brands, and 15 target banks directly. The ordering matters: in this corpus payment-rail abuse outnumbers bank credential phishing by roughly seven to one, which inverts the Western pattern.

Two sub-patterns are worth separating. The first is conventional brand abuse of Paytm and PhonePe — cashback offers, sound-box downloads, KYC prompts. The second is more interesting: domains marketing an unlicensed "0% fee, fast & safe UPI payment API", such as `pay0.shop` and the "Green Pay" set. These target merchants rather than consumers, offering payment collection infrastructure outside the regulated NPCI framework.

A deliberate exclusion worth recording. We removed 391 domains that pair UPI, Paytm or PhonePe branding with colour-prediction games, teen patti, rummy and crypto casinos. They are numerous and they do use the payment brands, but they are a distinct gambling problem rather than payment-credential theft, and folding them in would have inflated the payments category by more than three times.

4 — Why these survive, and for how long

55% STILL HOSTING	59 MEDIAN DAYS ONLINE	217 LONGEST ONLINE	144 OVER 90 DAYS

389 of 710 findings were still hosting at verification, with a median time online of 59 days. 144 have been live for more than ninety days and the oldest is 217. For comparison, consumer-brand phishing elsewhere in this corpus typically shows a median in the 5 to 40 day range.

The persistence is structural, not accidental. Three factors compound. First, many of these sites are plausibly commercial — a document print portal looks like a small business, so it does not attract the reflexive takedown a fake bank login does. Second, the impersonated bodies are government agencies without the mature, well-funded abuse-reporting operations that large banks run. Third, the volume is enormous and the individual sites are cheap: a domain on .shop or .sbs costs very little and the operator can absorb losing several.

5 — Detection quality

441 of 710 findings carry no brand token in the domain (62%). The 35-domain Aadhaar cluster is the clearest case: prodep t.shop, mafiaonline.shop, hukkalover.shop and umpking.shop all serve an Aadhaar login page and none contains a single character of the brand. No permutation engine seeded on "aadhaar" generates any of them.

Where domain logic does work here. The mParivahan set is the counter-example and a good one — m-parivahan.net, m-parivahan.com, meparivahan.org and the eight mpari-vahan[1-8].xyz domains are all derivable from the service name by a competent permutation list, and should be caught that way. The two methods are complementary: permutation catches the vehicle-services campaigns, content matching catches the identity-document ones.

6 — What we excluded, and why

The sweeps returned 2,688 candidates and 710 survived. India's collision profile is different again from the regions assessed previously.

Dropped	Reason
1,485	Brand referenced with no impersonation or identity-solicitation signal — news coverage, retailers, third-party services legally mentioning a brand.
391	Gambling and prediction games using payment brands. Colour prediction, teen patti, rummy and crypto casinos that advertise UPI acceptance. A real problem, but a different one.
55	Indian real-estate listings. "Adani" appears constantly in Gurgaon and Dwarka Expressway property adverts posted by third-party agents.
13	Film piracy portals matched on unrelated strings.
11	" Myntra " also names a Spanish and Czech nutritional-supplement brand — " principios de nutrición ", " přírodní doplňky ".
7	Indian exam-result aggregators — a large content category, not impersonation.
6	Chinese-language marketplace pages matching "Meesho".
3	" LIC " collides with Long Island City and the Spanish abbreviation lic .
1	" GST " is also the Australian, Canadian, New Zealand and Singaporean sales tax.

The judgement call we are most exposed on. India has a large lawful network of Common Service Centres and Village Level Entrepreneurs who assist citizens with Aadhaar and PAN paperwork for a fee. Some sites in the identity category may be legitimate operators with poor web hygiene rather than fraud. We required an assertion of authority the operator does not hold, reproduction of a government service, or direct solicitation of identity numbers — but this boundary is genuinely blurry, and an Indian reader with local knowledge will judge individual entries better than we can. The PAN-lookup and "UIDAI approved" sets are the ones we are confident about.

7 — Recommendations

- Treat identity documents as the primary monitored asset, not banking. The data says 42% of Indian impersonation targets Aadhaar, PAN and voter ID. Monitoring scoped to bank brands would miss the majority of it.
- Alert on solicitation patterns, not just brand names. A page asking for an Aadhaar number together with a date of birth is the highest-value signal in this dataset and needs no brand string to detect.
- Watch the `-gov` and `seva/sewa` constructions. Since `.gov.in` is restricted, operators imitate it in the second-level label. That is a cheap, high-precision detection.
- Escalate false claims of statutory authority separately. Ten domains claim "Government of India" and twelve claim UIDAI approval. That is a distinct legal exposure from ordinary brand abuse and a stronger basis for takedown.
- Expect long dwell times and plan for them. A 59-day median and 144 sites past ninety days means detection alone changes little without an enforcement route.
- Handle the gambling overlap as its own programme. The 391 excluded domains are real and use payment branding, but mixing them into fraud metrics distorts both.

Webamon regional threat assessment. Findings derive from rendered page content observed between 1 January and 6 August 2026; liveness was established by direct DNS and HTTP probe on 6 August 2026. Screenshots are reproduced from the scan that captured each page. No finding derives from domain-string, permutation or certificate matching. 1,972 candidates were excluded and the reasons are itemised in section 6.
